

Coachella '14: The Ultimate Festival Experience

Day Two's Best Moments: Taking the stage at the Sahara Tent in the late afternoon, Dillon Francis premiered a specialized DJ booth created by V Squared Labs just for Coachella. Francis opened his set with a remix of Diplo's "Express Yourself," before diving into a solid hour of his signature Moombahton style. Meanwhile, hundreds of people held up totems of the DJ's face—promo souvenirs handed out earlier that day.

Just after that, English pop star Ellie Goulding took the main stage in front of a massive crowd during the sunset to flawlessly perform her hits, including the Calvin Harris-produced dance smash, "I Need Your Love." Meanwhile, The Glitch Mob began their set in the Sahara Tent, which featured their latest newfangled booth set-up used on their extensive, current tour. The group performed both old and new hits to a packed house under the state-of-the-art lighting and visuals provided by V Squared Labs, which illuminated the night sky with a laser performance unlike any other. Also, on the way to the Coachella stage, you could catch The Knife lead a hilariously synchronized dance show during their performance to close Day One on the Outdoor Stage.
